

Nocturnal

In this constructed light

So cynical, drifting apart

a whole population, too scared to move marked by complexity, and full of darkness

Nocturnal wanderings.

Bricks are stacked, enclosed, in this silence, silence

Stars are nowhere to be found, in this silence, silence

Only place we are free, free from the constructed light

In the deep, we descend somehow

I let the silence, silence bring me

Hold your breath for a minute now

Don't let the silence bring you down

In this constructed light

I let the silence bring me down

Don't let the silence bring you down

in the deep, we descend somehow

I let the silence bring me down

Hold your breath for a minute now

Don't let the silence bring you down